

Groundwater and Infrastructure Panel

Ms Liz Webb

Director, Divisional Leader, Water and Land

Liz has worked as a hydrogeologist for 24 years and is a Director of EMM Consulting. She has outstanding knowledge and expertise in Australia's hydrogeology through completion of more than 80 diverse projects in groundwater analysis and resource management.

As Leader of the Water and Land, Liz employs her exceptional understanding of the interests and concerns of clients and all stakeholders. She has worked across the stakeholder spectrum, for mining and energy companies and for national, State and local government authorities and associations.

Liz is an active member of the International Association of Hydrogeologists and regularly delivers papers at national and international hydrogeology conferences.

Liz has a Bachelor of Applied Science (Environmental Analysis), Charles Sturt University and a Master of Engineering (Groundwater Management), University of Technology Sydney.